THESE are so made that the glasses are the order. I spring in, instead of being fastened in the order. I make the first farmers answers for any number of glasses, thus exabling the user to have them for short or long distances as may be desired, without the iconvenience of two pairs of glasses.

These Spectacles are recommended for their simplicity, as any person sithough unacquainted with the article, can at once change the glass; and they are stronger and more durable than the old style.

KING AND QUEEN. HANG AND QUEEN.

FROM "ENERLE AND OTHER POEMS BY L."

I am king in my own domain,

And my little wife is queen,

And jointly over our realm we reign,

A royal couple I ween.

Beauty and grace are the roles that flow From her kily shoulders down; The gems or truth on her bosom glow, And love is her golden crown.

But her dainty hands are brown with toil, Her cheeks with the breezes' kies, And she works for a tiller of the soil As if work for him were a bliss.

linn the king and the tiller too, My farm is my proud domain, And the will to dare and the strength to

Are the acuptres of my reign.

At my touch the-teeming earth yields up Her wealth for my least and store; he nectar of health brims high my cup, My measure of bliss runs o'er.

CORINTH.

The slege of Corinth was terminated almost as soon as it begun. Only a few days since we announced that the army of General Halleck, was at Corinth, about three-fourths of a mile from the enemy's works, and had commenced a siege, and now we have the authentic intelligence that the place is evacuated physic and has been cocupied by Hallock's troops. This abandonment was preceded by some desperate fighting, at a grand reconnoisance in force, made against the rebels by three columns it is but the pert of prudence, even wisdom of troops from the corps of Thomas, Pope and Buelt, in which our troops captured some prisoners, killed thirty are fit to be free who can do so. rebels, took and hold the southern side of Bridge creek, and occupied a rebel pattery.

By these operations we gained such very strong positions right in the teeth of the enemy, that a general battle was expected next day, but when the time came the rebels had fled. FOUNTAIN HOTEL, BALTIMORE, May 26, 1862.

There is a great excitement here to-day on account of the Confederate refoicings at the news of Col. Kenley's defeat and probable death. Just in front of this house there was a man knocked down and stamped on for uttering secession sentiments, too freely this morning. We met a crowd of men and boys going about to make raise one. We have been to-day to see the street, where the troops were fired upon, and also the Custom House. Mr. H., save he can detail a sufficient number of men to protest us if need be, and Capt. C., says he can take us on board the Guard Ship; but there can be no real danger to us.

I had so many interruptions yesterday that I could not write. There was great excitement all day here.
